

100 Accomplished Black Canadian Women Fireside Chats – Season 6 (2027)

| Episode | Date                                      | Topic                                                          | Description                                                                                                                                                                      | Registration Link                        |
|---------|-------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|
| #1      | January 17                                | The Future is Ours: Black Women Leading the Next Decade | Season Premiere. Visionary leaders explore the trends, opportunities, and challenges that will define leadership, innovation, and community impact over the next decade.         | Register for Episode #1  |
| #2      | January 24                                | Future-Proofing Your Career                             | Discover how to stay competitive in an era of rapid technological change, economic uncertainty, and evolving workplaces through lifelong learning, adaptability, and leadership. | Register for Episode #2  |
| #3      | February 7                                | The Future of Black Philanthropy                        | Black philanthropists, donors, and foundation leaders discuss giving with purpose, creating lasting community impact, and building generational legacies.                        | Register for Episode #3  |
| #4      | February 14                               | Love, Leadership &amp; Healthy Relationships            | A timely Valentine's Day conversation on emotional intelligence, healthy relationships, self-worth, and leading with authenticity in every aspect of life.                       | Register for Episode #4  |
| #5      | February 21                               | Women &amp; Sports Leadership                           | Celebrating Black women transforming professional sports, coaching, athletics, sports medicine, and executive leadership while inspiring future generations.                     | Register for Episode #5  |
| #6      | February 28                               | Building Black Communities Through Economic Empowerment | Procurement, entrepreneurship, supplier diversity, investment, and collaborative strategies to strengthen Black economic prosperity.                                             | Register for Episode #6  |
| #7      | March 7                                   | Women Who Change Laws and Shape Nations                 | Distinguished judges, lawyers, elected officials, and policy leaders discuss justice, advocacy, governance, and social change.                                                   | Register for Episode #7  |
| #8      | March 14                                  | The Power of Your Story                                 | Authors, journalists, filmmakers, and storytellers examine how authentic stories preserve history, influence public opinion, and inspire future generations.                     | Register for Episode #8  |
| #9      | March 21                                  | Immigration Success Stories                             | Inspiring stories of resilience, entrepreneurship, leadership, and community building from immigrant women who have helped shape Canada.                                         | Register for Episode #9  |
| #10     | April 4                                   | Black Women in Film, Television &amp; Media             | Celebrating creatives who are transforming Canada's cultural landscape through film, television, journalism, digital media, and content creation.                                | Register for Episode #10 |
| #11     | April 11                                  | Quantum Computing &amp; Emerging Technologies           | Experts explore quantum computing, cybersecurity, artificial intelligence, biotechnology, and the innovations that will shape tomorrow's economy.                                | Register for Episode #11 |
| #12     | April 18                                  | The Creator Economy                                     | Learn how Black women are building thriving businesses through podcasting, publishing, speaking, digital content, and personal branding.                                         | Register for Episode #12 |
| #13     | April 25                                  | Mental Health Without Stigma                            | Honest conversations about wellness, resilience, healing, trauma-informed leadership, and supporting mental health in our communities.                                           | Register for Episode #13 |
| #14     | May 2                                     | Women Transforming Real Estate &amp; Housing            | Developers, investors, housing advocates, architects, and financial experts discuss affordable housing, homeownership, and building generational wealth through real estate.     | Register for Episode #14 |
| #15     | May 16(Mother's Day weekend avoided)  | Leading Across Generations                              | How intergenerational mentorship, collaboration, and shared leadership can strengthen families, workplaces, and communities.                                                     | Register for Episode #15 |
| #16     | May 30(Victoria Day weekend avoided)  | Black Women in Agriculture &amp; Food Security          | Exploring sustainable agriculture, food innovation, urban farming, nutrition, and ensuring equitable access to healthy food.                                                     | Register for Episode #16 |
| #17     | June 6                                    | Women in Defence, Security &amp; Intelligence           | Military leaders, intelligence experts, cybersecurity professionals, and emergency management specialists discuss leadership in protecting our communities and nation.           | Register for Episode #17 |
| #18     | June 13                                   | AI, Innovation &amp; the Human Advantage                | Building on the quantum discussion, this session explores responsible AI, digital transformation, ethics, and preparing for the future of work.                                  | Register for Episode #18 |
| #19     | June 27(Father's Day weekend avoided) | The Power of Partnership                                | Examining authentic allyship, sponsorship, strategic partnerships, and collaborative leadership that drives meaningful change.                                                   | Register for Episode #19 |
| #20     | July 4                                    | The Legacy We Leave (Season Finale)                     | An inspiring closing conversation on purpose, mentorship, preserving legacy, and empowering the next generation of Black Canadian leaders.                                       | Register for Episode #20 |